DEVELOPING THE FUTURE CITY LAHQ'S ANNUAL DEVELOPER PANEL

Over the course of the last decade, Los Angeles has parlayed its well-rooted history in Film and Entertainment into becoming a global competitor of the new innovation economy, drawing a new generation of media tech and creative talent that has led to the transformation of our urban cores for greater density and activity. Couple this with historic housing demand, several new world-class sport and concert venues, an outlook towards hosting the 2028 Olympics, and the associated transportation and infrastructure projects to keep pace, LA is positioning itself as the Future City.

Join us to learn from leading developers how LA is building towards that new tomorrow!
